1. Along the ridges of the Gothic Line

This bike trail runs along the Gothic line where so many bloody battles took place and leads through the territory of Coriano, San Clemente and Montecolombo. The course is all ups and downs and starts on Mazzini square in Coriano, at the Castelleale castle of San Clemente which you leave on your right hand side. Follow the dirt road to the castle of San Savino. Then, through vineyards, grain fields and groves of olive trees, ride towards the road from Croce to Montecolombo. From here, you descend for about 1 km, and then the road goes up and down until it reaches Coriano after less than 8 km. The castles of Montecolombo and Montescudo are well worth a visit.
